Good afternoon Mulligans:

It is Mulligans, Ash Wednesday, and Valentine's Day. All rolled into one. That must make it the best day of the week again. If you have a hangover from Fat Tuesday, well there's always the hair of the dog.

Hopefully it will also be sunny and warm. So sign up with Zach for a great Mulligans round. By the way, he has guaranteed next week's weather. Sunny and 66°. So hopefully next week we will go from "Raindrops keep falling on my head" to "The sun will come out tomorrow".

Be sure and not miss the opportunity sign up for the Mulligans spring training baseball outing on March 12. It's the Colorado Rockies versus the Kansas City Royals at one of the best venues in the valley, salt, River Field. $78 buys you lunch and a great afternoon of fun with fellow Mulligans and families.

Email to Melanie at <mailto:MemberSpringTraining@gmail.com> or tell Bill Boehner, or reply to this email.

Lunch next week is back at Le Sans Souci and our speakers will be from the Desert Botanical Garden thanks to Don Dixon. The same deal as last week. If you'd like to attend, please reply to this email by Tuesday morning, together with your menu selections. The Menu is attached.

And, unlike Doug, I wouldn't begin to bet on the Super Bowl... or Taylor Swift making it back for the game. But he's younger and a bigger risk taker.

Have a great weekend.
